

Air travel is already hectic enough, I don't need or want to listen to someone talking to their kids or significant other while I am traveling. People talk very loud and have no regard for other passengers.